

Surname: Fox
By: Mia Fox

My surname is Fox. Before Fox there was Fuchs, the family had the surname Fuchs when my great-grandparents lived in Austria. Fuchs is the Middle High German translation of fox. So the names are the same just in different languages. When my great-grandparents moved to America it was changed to Fox. Fuchs is actually a nickname for a person with red hair. While Fox, also a nickname for red hair can also be a nickname for a crafty person. The surname Fox actually comes from the animal.

The German Fox Family Crest

They are the same because they both mean the same thing

